PPE FOR MATRIC STUDENTS AT AMAOTI NO 3 DURING COVID-19

DURBAN – In response to a plea for Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for the matric students of Amaoti No 3 Secondary School, Cox Yeats rose to the occasion.

With the Covid19 Pandemic throughout the country, the firm was committed to assist the learners to continue their studies safely, to ensure they matriculate come the year end. In response to this plea, Cox Yeats, who support the school through various initiatives, supplied the school with 107 x 3-ply masks and face shields for the 2020 matric learners.

“We are so grateful for the masks and face shields (PPE) which Cox Yeats has donated for our matric students. This will enable them to continue safely attending their classes without fear of becoming infected. The students and teachers thank you for protecting our learners during this help in this frightening time,” said Principal, Gugulethu Maphumulo.
